The Versatility Award: Yorkshire Terriers are active and versatile dogs. They were bred to have the skills and drive to excel in the field, and are happiest when working closely with their owners. Modern day Yorkies and their owners use these skills to compete in the many dogs sports available today. To recognize and preserve these traits and to encourage owners to enjoy them, the YTCA offers the Versatility Awards, which reward participation in a variety of dog activities.

The Versatility Award is designed so that the average Yorkie and owner, with some effort, can earn one. It asks for one title in three different fields, and a total of seven points. As a conformation title is not required, these awards are open to the pet as well as to the champion. Earning the Versatility Award demonstrates that the Yorkie and owner have put in a concentrated amount of time and effort in training as well as showing and trialing. While YTCA is recognizing and rewarding dog sport activities with the Versatility Award, we also recognize that there are many Yorkies involved in activities that do not offer titles. We know of one herding Yorkie, some Frisbee Yorkies and a number of racing Yorkies. The options of activities for the Yorkshire Terrier is infinite as they are truly a versatile breed.
